John J. Kiernan, Sr., 72, of Trenton, N. J., is in the Mercer Hospital

IS NOW RESPONDING

Driver of Automobile Striking Him is Held Under $500 Bail

MORRISVILLE, May 29—A 72-year-old pedestrian was painfully and possibly seriously injured on the old Lincoln highway, one mile west of this borough last evening at 9:45.

The injured:

John J. Kiernan, Sr., of 14 West End avenue, Trenton, N. J.

Kiernan was removed to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, in the Morrisville ambulance. At the hospital this morning it was stated that he suffered lacerations, and although unconscious when admitted to the institution, was responding this morning. Whether there is a fracture of the skull has not yet been determined. Hospital officials stated that Kiernan's condition is "fair."

According to Pennsylvania State Police of Langhorne barracks, Kiernan was walking west on the highway when struck by an automobile driven by Harris H. Brown, of 132 Hoffman avenue, Trenton, N. J.

Brown was held under $500 bail to await outcome of Kiernan's injuries.

Bristol Man Victim of An Alleged Shakedown

A Bristol man has informed Frederic D. Garman, president of Philadelphia City Council that his firm was the victim of an alleged shakedown racket by employees of the Fire Marshal's office of that city.

Garman made the disclosure at a meeting with Fire Marshal George J. Gallagher, Director of Public Safety James H. Malone, Detective Sgt. Martin McDonnell, who has been assigned to conduct an investigation into the racket charges; Councilmen L. Wallace Egan and Clarence K. Crossan, and Paul W.
Corliss, deputy State Fuel Coordinator, whose information to Garman touched off the inquiry.

Garman said he received a letter from Warren J. Talbot, president of the firm bearing the same name, whose main offices are in Bristol.
The company, according to the letter, recently disposed of its plant at 30th and Reed sts., Philadelphia.
It deals in new and used worsted machinery.

Talbot's letter stated in part:
"I wish to congratulate you on your motion against a shakedown that is taking place in the city. We have operated a plant in the city and became thoroughly disgusted with the procedure that was necessary to accomplish anything.

"About a year ago we installed an oil-burning boiler at our property and installed an oil tank with a 10,000-gallon capacity and were informed that there was a fee of a one-half cent a gallon, or $50.

"As recently as a week ago a fire inspector came to our building and upon request we paid him his fee of $5. Such nonsense as this has played a large part in selling our property.

"We feel sure there are others who feel as we do about this procedure and that the sooner such practices are stopped the better it will be for Philadelphia."

DID VANDENBERG PLAY FAIR?

With Senator Vandenberg being widely discussed as a possible compromise candidate for the various Republican factions, the question of whether he has played fair with his Republican associates in the two Houses of Congress on the trade agreements issue becomes a matter of paramount importance.

Has he shown, in this instance, the sort of co-operation with the legislative branch of government the lack of which, on the part of the two New Deal presidents, has so seriously strained the Constitutional pattern?

He is, of course, entitled to his own views, on tariffs as well as other matters; and has a right to take issue with the broad Republican position and history if he wishes. But has he done so in this case in a fair and above-board manner—or has he deliberately tried to "mouse-trap" his associates on the Republican side?

A very strong case can be made that Vandenberg has intentionally tried to "blitz" the Republican majority in the House of Representatives in this matter; and that he is playing the game, not of his own side of the political fence, but of the New Deal side—selling his own party short for the benefit of President Truman, Secretary Marshall, and the mysterious cluster of "internationalists" in the Department of State.

If this is granted, of course, then the question immediately rises of what early reason the Republicans should have to nominate, as the man to carry out their program, a man so obviously truckling to the opposition. Why not simply endorse Truman himself, or Marshall—since it is so conspicuously their philosophy which Vandenberg has accepted in preference to that which is historically associated with the Republican party.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The Israeli garrison of the Old City of Jerusalem surrendered to the Arab Legion of Trans-Jordan yesterday after its food had run out.
Included in the surrender were more than 2,500 men, women and children. The Jerusalem radio of Haganah broadcast a report that the Arab forces were moving against bitter Israeli resistance toward the heart of the modern area of Jerusalem.

Another fierce battle was raging 14 miles west of Jerusalem near Latrun, where reinforced Israeli and Arab forces sought control of the road to Tel Aviv. An Israeli bulletin claimed capture of the Arab villages of Beit Jiz and Beit Susin, while a Cairo communique said Egyptian troops had attacked Israeli troop concentrations in the same area.

At Lake Success, France appealed to the United Nations Security Council to adopt a resolution calling on all Jews and Arabs to stop the battle within Jerusalem immediately to avert damage to or destruction of the Holy Sepulchre and other holy places. Earlier, the United States supported the Soviet Union in a demand for prompt action to halt the Palestine war.

The International Court of Jusdice, in its first decision, ruled 9 to 6 that the Soviet Union had no right to veto the application of any nation for membership in the United Nations because another nation was not admitted.

The State Department revealed that Iran would receive $60,000,000 worth of weapons, including tanks, guns and fighter planes, from this country under a military aid program intended to "maintain the international security of Iran."

New State Department moves were indicated looking toward the possibility of "exploratory conversations" with Moscow in the wake of the Smith-Molotov exchange in the hope of resolving some of the issues that divide the two countries.

Prime Minister Jan Christian Smuts and his Cabinet resigned after his party's defeat in the South African national elections. The head of the Nationalist party was asked to form a new Government.

In Paris, Premier Schuman staked the fate of his Government on a vote Tuesday on a measure to reduce the civil service by 150,000 employees.

William Z. Foster, chairman of the Communist party in the United States, was arrested in New York City.

Family Case Is Aired
In Bucks County Court

DOYLESTOWN, May 29—Taking more than a whole day in criminal court, a feud was aired Wednesday between Mrs. Mabel Dooley, Newtown, and her son-in-law, William Fopielaz, before President Judge Hiram H. Keller.

The defendant, Fopielaz, formerly of New Hope, is charged with public nuisance and malicious mischief which consists of thrusting his fist through the French doorpane of his mother-in-law's house on March 28 and blowing an automobile horn "something terrific" on May 12.

The mother-in-law testified that her son-in-law, who is separated from his wife, called at her home three times on Easter Sunday. The last call was made at 10 o'clock in the evening and, when the mother-in-law rather abruptly closed the door in his face, he managed to stick his fist through a pane in the French door. Mrs. Dooley said the mother and her little girl were out walking.

The son-in-law, who testified he had a right to visit his daughter, a five-year-old girl, every Sunday afternoon between two and four o'clock, denied shoving his fist through the door, but insisted his mother-in-law slammed the door against it.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Jerusalem—Jewish attempts today to rescue beleaguered comrades who surrendered to the Arab Legion in the old walled city of Jerusalem held up evacuation of Israeli women, children and the sick and the aged for more than an hour. The Trans-Jordan troops had agreed to turn over the non-combatants to the International Red Cross, but the evacuees were forced to huddle in the shelter of doorways as the would-be rescuers attacked the Damascus and Zion gates of the walled city during the night.

Justice Lynn states that Mrs.
Sheppard, who formerly lived in Bristol, and who now lives here, had her husband arrested some weeks ago because of non-support.
At that time the case was settled, but she again preferred charges, and the warrant for his arrest was issued by Justice Lynn.

Sheppard is originally from Virginia. The three children are being boarded at Emile.

One of Russia's Uses of Veto Adjudged Illegal

Lake Success, N. Y.—Russia's use of the veto to prevent five nations from joining the United Nations has been adjudged illegal by the Interin The Hague in The Netherlands, has no binding effect on the United Nations. However, students of international law are inclined to regard the decision a historically important.

Monday, May 31st, being ob-

Bristol Man Victim of An Alleged Shakedown

A Bristol man has informed Freddie D. Garman, president of Philadelphia City Council, that his firm was the victim of an alleged shakedown racket by employees of the Fire Marshal's office of that city.

Garman made the disclosure at a meeting with Fire Marshal George J. Gallagher, Director of Public Safety James H. Malone, Detective Sgt. Martin McDonnell, who has been assigned to conduct an investigation into the racket charges; Councilmen L. Wallace Egan and Clarence K. Crossan, and Paul W. Corliss, deputy State Fuel Coordinator, whose information to Garman touched off the inquiry.

Garman said he received a letter from Warren J. Talbot, president of the firm bearing the same name, whose main offices are in Bristol. The company, according to the letter, recently disposed of its plant at 30th and Reed sts., Philadelphia. It deals in new and used worsted machinery.

Talbot's letter stated in part: "I wish to congratulate you on your motion against a shakedown that is taking place in the city. We have operated a plant in the city and became thoroughly disgusted with the procedure that was necessary to accomplish anything."

"About a year ago we installed an oil-burning boiler at our property and installed an oil tank with a 10,000-gallon capacity and were informed that there was a fee of one-half cent a gallon, or $50."

"As recently as a week ago a fire inspector came to our building and upon request we paid him his 'fee' of $5. Such nonsense as this has played a large part in selling our property."

"We feel sure there are others who feel as we do about this procedure and that the sooner such practices are stopped the better it will be for Philadelphia."

But has he done so in this case in a fair and above-board manner—or has he deliberately tried to "mouse-trap" his associates on the Republican side?

A very strong case can be made that Vandenberg has intentionally tried to "blitz" the Republican majority in the House of Representatives in this matter; and that he is playing the game, not of his own side of the political fence, but of the New Deal side—selling his own party short for the benefit of President Truman, Secretary Marshall, and the mysterious cluster of "internationalists" in the Department of State.

If this is granted, of course, then the question immediately rises of what early reason the Republicans should have to nominate, as the man to carry out their program, a man so obviously trucking to the opposition. Why not simply endorse Truman himself, or Marshall—since it is so conspicuously their philosophy which Vandenberg has accepted in preference to that which is historically associated with the Republican party.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The Israeli garrison of the Old City of Jerusalem surrendered to the Arab Legion of Trans-Jordan yesterday after its food had run out. Included in the surrender were more than 2,500 men, women and children. The Jerusalem radio of Haganah broadcast a report that the Arab forces were moving against bitter Israeli resistance toward the heart of the modern area of Jerusalem.

Another fierce battle was raging 14 miles west of Jerusalem near Latrun, where reinforced Israeli and Arab forces sought control of the road to Tel Aviv. An Israeli bulletin claimed capture of the Arab villages of Beit Jiz and Beit Susin, while a Cairo communique said Egyptian bombers had attacked Israeli troop concentrations in the same area.

At Lake Success, France appealed to the United Nations Security Council to adopt a resolution calling on all Jews and Arabs to stop the battle within Jerusalem immediately to avert damage to or destruction of the Holy Sepulchre and other holy places. Earlier, the United States supported the Soviet Union in a demand for prompt action to halt the Palestine war.

CENTRAL SCHOOL BD.*Old Fair Buildings At Doylestown Available For Purchase*SOME SALARIES UPPED

DOYLESTOWN, June 1—When Doylestown school board members met recently they made plans to contact the original school boards of the central Bucks county joint school district with reference to purchasing the four acre tract and the old fair building, revising the budget, setting teachers' salaries and discussed commencement.

President M. John Rosenberger read an agreement which was prepared by treasurer Wesley Bunting in connection with the purchase of the old fair grounds exhibition building, a frame house and four acres of land.

It will be necessary to contact the school boards of the original Central Bucks Joint District in order to have their confidence with reference to future expansion of the school.

The property may be bought for $20,000 or $22,000 and it will cost another $30,000 ($10,000 a shop it is estimated) to put into shape for shop use.

At a special session Tuesday afternoon the approximate budget of $258,000 was adopted and the tax rate fixed for next year.

Combining each faculty name individually, the board gave mandatory increments ranging from nothing up to $150.

Meritorious salary increases ranged from $50 to $200 depending on the individual teacher's services. In several cases, no meritorious increments were given which is to serve as a warning to the teacher that the position could be filled more aptly by another. The names of 47 faculty members were individually appraised.

Dr. J. Leonard Halderman, supervising principal, who reported that he has been informed by the Court that the court house will be probably not be available for commencement on June 15, because of murder trials scheduled, was authorized to make emergency plans.

PRECEDED FATAL SHOOTING OF WILLIAM KELLY, 38*Family Case Is Aired
In Bucks County Court

DOYLESTOWN, May 29—Taking more than a whole day in criminal court, a feud was aired Wednesday between Mrs. Mabel Dooley, Newtown, and her son-in-law, William Popielaz, before President Judge Hiram H. Keller.

The defendant, Popielaz, formerly of New Hope, is charged with public nuisance and malicious mischief which consists of thrusting his fist through the French doorpane of his mother-in-law's house on March 28 and blowing an automobile horn "something terrific" on May 12.

The mother-in-law testified that her son-in-law, who is separated from his wife, called at her home three times on Easter Sunday. The last call was made at 10 o'clock in the evening and, when the mother-in-law rather abruptly closed the door in his face, he managed to stick his fist through a pane in the French door. Mrs. Dooley said the mother and her little girl were out walking.

The son-in-law, who testified he had a right to visit his daughter a five-year-old girl, every Sunday afternoon between two and four o'clock, denied shoving his fist through the door, but insisted his mother-in-law slammed the door against it.

Jerusalem—Jewish attempts today to rescue beleaguered comrades who surrendered to the Arab legion in the old walled city of Jerusalem held up evacuation of Israeli women, children and the sick and the aged for more than an hour. The Trans-Jordan troops had agreed to turn over the non-combatants to the International Red Cross, but the evacuees were forced to huddle in the shelter of doorways as the would-be rescuers attacked the Damascus and Zion gates of the walled city during the night.

Justice Lynn states that Mrs. Sheppard, who formerly lived in Bristol, and who now lives here, had her husband arrested some weeks ago because of non-support. At that time the case was settled, but she again preferred charges, and the warrant for his arrest was issued by Justice Lynn.

SATURDAY, MAY 29, 1948

IN REMEMBRANCE

On this Memorial Day of 1948, it is especially fitting that we honor those who fought and those who died in defense of our country. It is for us who enjoy the freedom they so nobly perpetuated to pay them tribute. In deepest humility we should acknowledge our obligation to those who served in time of need.

There is the danger, more real than it seems to many, that observance of Memorial Day may become only a national gesture, futile and meaningless. The practice could become general of confining to a single day in the year the acknowledgement of a debt so great that it can never be met except through continuous payment in patriotic citizenship.

None will ever express it better than did Lincoln at Gettysburg: "It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated . . . to the unfiniteness of work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced."

Throughout the ages man has fought and died for freedom. That has been the history of our own country, from Bunker Hill and Valley Forge to the last conflict on battlefields across the world.
So on this Memorial Day, throughout this great land, let there be a dedication to the cause of liberty, lest those who gave the last full measure of devotion shall have died in vain.

CAREER MAN UP

Appointment by the President of Charles F. Brannan as Secretary of Agriculture is the second recent case of a career man being promoted to cabinet rank. It was last November that Jesse M. Donaldson, once a letter carrier, succeeded Robert E. Hannegan as Postmaster General.

Appointive power in the hands of a President has often resulted in the selection of men whose working knowledge of a public job has been secondary to other considerations. Notoriously the position of Postmaster General has been dished out in the past as a reward for good party service. If the recipient did a good job it was largely to the credit of the men under him who knew how mail should be handled.

Perhaps the appointment of Donaldson was not quite the test Brannan's is. A Postmaster General can more safely be a sort of clerk whose patience, accuracy and fidelity, along with executive ability, have raised him to a sort of glorified office manager. It is not a disparagement of Donaldson to say that he will not be called on to make many decisions that will affect the policy of the U. S. government.

A Secretary of Agriculture, though, is a real policy maker. He is the head man of a department that has gigantic responsibility to the domestic economy. And at present the nation's foreign policy is closely tied in with the department's surveys, recommendations, hopes and fears.

Two political parties this year may spend $50,000,000. Speech during a campaign is no longer free.

SATURDAY, MAY 29, 1948

IN REMEMBRANCE

On this Memorial Day of 1948,
it is especially fitting that we
honor those who fought and those who died in defense of our country. It is for us who enjoy the freedom they so nobly perpetuated
to pay them tribute. In deepest humility we should acknowledge our obligation to those who served in time of need.

There is the danger, more real
than it seems to many, that observance of Memorial Day may become only a national gesture,
futile and meaningless. The practice could become general of confining to a single day in the year
the acknowledgement of a debt
so great that it can never be met
except through continuous payment in patriotic citizenship.

None will ever express it better than did Lincoln at Gettysburg: "It is for us, the living,
rather to be dedicated . . . to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced."

Throughout the ages man has fought and died for freedom. That has been the history of our own country, from Bunker Hill and
Valley Forge to the last conflict
on battlefields across the world.
So on this Memorial Day,
throughout this great land, let there be a rededication to the cause of liberty, lest those who gave the last full measure of devotion shall have died in vain.

CAREER MAN UP

Appointment by the President
of Charles F. Brannan as Secretary of Agriculture is the second
recent case of a career man being promoted to cabinet rank. It was last November that Jesse M. Donaldson, once a letter carrier, succeeded Robert E. Hannegan as Postmaster General.

Appointive power in the hands
of a President has often resulted in the selection of men whose
working knowledge of a public
job has been secondary to other considerations. Notoriously the position of Postmaster General
has been dished out in the past as a reward for good party service. If the recipient did a good job it was largely to the credit of the men under him who knew
how mail should be handled.

Perhaps the appointment of
Donaldson was not quite the test
Brannan's is. A Postmaster General can more safely be a sort of
clerk whose patience, accuracy
and fidelity, along with executive
ability, have raised him to a sort of glorified office manager. It is not a disparagement of Donaldson
to say that he will not be called
on to make many decisions that will affect the policy of the U. S. government.

A Secretary of Agriculture,
though, is a real policy maker. He is the head man of a department
that has gigantic responsibility to the domestic economy. And at present the nation's foreign policy is closely tied in with the department's surveys, recommendations,
hopes and fears.

Two political parties this year
may spend $50,000,000. Speech during a campaign is no longer free.

VOLTZ AFTER TWO DEFEATS ENTERS THE WIN COLUMN

After two straight losses, the Voltz-Tessaco team broke into the win side of the ledger with an 8-3 triumph over the Fifth Ward Sporting Club, last evening, on the Memorial Park field.

It was a case of too much Purcell for the Fifth Ward boys. "Clint," former Fallington High pitcher, twirled for the Oilers and allowed the Warders five hits. Frank, a cox, did the receiving and besides the fine handling of the pitcher, smacked out three hits to lead the batters of the evening.

Of the five hits made by the losers, three went to Nick Mancini, all singles.

Fifth Ward used two moundsmen. Henry Liberatore started the game and gave way to Gene Barbetta in the third inning. Liberatore was charged with the loss.

LEWIS LODGE NINE SWAMPED BY HARD HITTING RIVALS

The Democrat Club hit the ball hard last evening as it swamped the Lewis Lodge of Elks, 12-5, in a Suburban League game on Lecdom's field. The defeat dropped the Elks from third to sixth in the league standing.

The Democrats had 15 safe swats in the tilt and were led in hitting by "Toby" Orloia who hit a triple and two singles in three official trips to the plate, and Manager "Sid" Purcell, who socked the apple for a double and a pair of singles in four times up.

Every player in the Democrats' lineup with the exception of pitcher "Hokey" Leighton had at least one hit. Leighton held the losers to seven hits and only Wesley Ringgold had more than one hit.

Lewis Lodge used three hurlers in the tilt, starting "Eddie" Thompson, changing to "Slim" Harris, and ending with Hardy Johnson.

"Forget Not The Boys"

Forget not the boys, Americans true,
 Who gave their lives for me and for you;

The boys who enlisted when America went to war, The boys who were proud of what they were fighting for.

They fought and died that peace might be,
 And to keep America a democracy;

A small white cross now marks each grave,
 Of these boys, so true and brave.

But remember "Old Glory" flew at half-mast, Though peace lives again and war is past;

Forget not the boys, Americans true,
 Who gave their lives for me and for you.

Did Vandenberg Play Fair?

The question of Vandenberg's real objectives, however, is perhaps even less to the point than whether he has sought those objectives in open, above-board fashion—or by trickery.

The case against Vandenberg's fairness and candor in this matter is simple, and easy to understand. There seems to be no question whatever that the members of the House, principally those on the Ways and Means Committee which dealt with the trade agreements matter, invited Vandenberg and others in the Senate to the preliminary caucuses for the purpose of getting together on a mutually acceptable program. The report from Washington is that Vandenberg, feeling himself unable to take part, allowed Senator Millikin (R., Colo.) to sit in as his observer.

On the assumption that this arrangement, obviously giving Senator Vandenberg every opportunity to present his own views before rather than after the House acted, was intended to be a commitment by Senator Vandenberg to be bound by the caucus decision, the House made its choice out of several possible plans. Their agreement was supported by the House of Representatives overwhelmingly—234 to 149. All but five Republicans voted for it, and sixteen Democrats left their party to support it.

No sooner was the vote taken, however, than Vandenberg began issuing a series of objections to the House plan—all of which, had they been raised before the House took final action, might have easily been met, and thus avoided a situation that can blow the Republican party wide open.

The demoralizing effect of this development can be shown best by considering a single bloc in Congress—the twenty-eight Republicans from Pennsylvania. This group, aware that Senator Vandenberg had been given an opportunity to raise objections to any detail of the proposals, aware also that he had said not a word ahead of time, and knowing that his proxy, Senator Millikin, has sat in on the meetings which worked out the plan, supported the measure unanimously.

Where do they stand now, thus unexpectedly repudiated by a Senator widely publicized as one of their party leaders?

What makes this sort of politics on Vandenberg's part all the more irritating is the fact that the House members went into the matter with open mind, fully aware that there is no easy, quick solution for the problem, and thoroughly familiar with the fact that there are good arguments in favor of any of half a dozen or so different approaches to the issue.

If Senator Vandenberg had wanted to display party leadership when it would have counted, if he had responded to the impulses of statesmanship, all he needed to do was to say, THEN, what he has to say, NOW—and the Republicans in the House would almost certainly have gone along.

By that process, party solidarity and teamwork would have been preserved. As it is, no one can estimate the demoralization and divisions which may be about to result.

There are situations in politics, and this was one of them, in which any line of policy has its weaknesses—and in which the need is not so much to fumble with the impossible task of trying to find an ideal procedure, as to get together and agree that all will stand jointly behind the best available compromise course.

That this was not done in the present case appears to be unmistakably the fault of none other than the man so widely discussed as a possible Republican nominee for President, Senator Vandenberg.

The question promptly rises, if Senator Vandenberg cannot or will not play the game with his fellow Republicans, if he is more interested in political foot-work and the programs of the New Dealers than in the welfare of his own party and harmony in it—then how could he be expected, as President, to work cooperatively with the legislative branch of government, under the arrangement intended by the Constitution?

There is no point whatever in going into the technicalities involved in the various proposals which have been made. There are arguments pro and con any possible suggestion in this matter. Even if it were to be granted that the Vandenberg ideas are more sound than those outlined by the House, he is still grievously at fault for not having given the House the benefit of his advice before the present situation was reached.

This is, unhappily, not the first time that Senator Vandenberg has laid himself open to the charge that he is playing the game of the "internationalists" by trickery against his own Republican colleagues. Eighteen months ago, he broke up a Republican drive to reform the trade agreements program by announcing a "compromise" which unfortunately led astray the bulk of the new, freshmen membership—who were largely unfamiliar with tariff issues.

He announced that the State Department had promised to write "escape clauses" into all future trade agreements.

The deception in his announcement lay in the suppression of two important points: first, that the "escape clauses" already were in the agreements, and had been for nearly ten years; and second, that the State Department officials had made it painfully clear that they would never dare attempt to invoke them in any case.

It was because of a feeling that Senator Vandenberg might be privately planning to wreck whatever they did, presumably, that the House leaders tried so hard to get him to tell them his own views before the present amendment was frozen, and sought also to give him every opportunity of knowing their plans before these were completed.

That Vandenberg deceptively avoided committing himself, although permitting the impression to spread that he had done so, may come under the head of clever politics—but it is a remarkably low order of statesmanship.

And it is a singularly poor recommendation to thinking Republicans to consider accepting him as their nominee at the coming convention.

Principal Witness Describes Horrors of Feasterville Tavern Hold-Up

"Foster pointed a gun at me as well as the rest of the people," Brown testified. "Hellerman and Darcy were stuffing in the bar. I saw Foster take deliberate aim and fire two shots in direction of Hellerman and Darcy."

"I saw at least three shots fired by Zietz's gun in the same direction, and I saw Hellerman fall. Edward Wunsch was also in the scuffle. Zietz shot three times in succession before Foster fired."

Brown testified that he saw Kelly lying on the ground outside the tavern after the holdup.

Very few questions were asked in cross-examination.

"After Foster fired his gun, Hellerman fell to the floor," Brown testified. "I could not tell which shots hit Hellerman."

Mrs. Gertrude Ralstrick, 43, of Feasterville, testified that she and her husband were in the tavern looking at television fights on the night of Dec. 22 between 10 and 11 p. m. Virginia Stickle also accompanied the Ralstricks.

"I saw Zietz shoot Eddie Wunsch and I saw Darcy fire shots too," the witness said. When Foster fired, I had to dodge or I'd gotten it," Mrs. Ralstrick added. The latter part of this testimony was ruled out.

"Zietz fired first," Mrs. Ralstrick continued. "Then Foster fired two shots that I saw, and Hellerman fell and I fell too. I saw Darcy reload his gun in front of me."

Mrs. Ralstrick said that Foster looked at her wedding ring and said, "Oh, you're married, we don't want that ring."

Harrison Ralstrick, 53, husband of the previous witness, corroborated his wife's testimony. He said he saw Zietz fire directly at Eddie Wunsch.

"I can account for about 10 shots fired inside the tavern," Harrison Ralstrick testified. "I put $5.00 on the bar. Foster was taking money out of the wallets, putting money in his pocket. Zietz was at the door with a gun covering the patrons."

"Zietz picked up Hellerman's hat, and put it on his head, and said, 'You won't need that where you're going.' Hellerman had been shot and was lying on the floor, in a bleeding condition."

"I knew the victim Kelly for about 16 years. I saw him laid out at the funeral parlor."

Virginia Stickle, of Feasterville, another patron at the tavern, testified "they were all waving guns at us."

"I don't know which defendant it was but one of them came back in the barroom, looked at the Christmas lights and wished us all a very Merry Christmas," Miss Stickle testified. "I couldn't tell where the shots came from; they were all shooting."

George Roth, Myrtle ave., Feasterville, testified that he went to the Feasterville Inn with a friend, Frank Froandale to see the television.

"Darcy came over to me, put a gun in my side and said this is a stickup," Roth testified.

"Eddie Wunsch was punching Darcy and Darcy was shooting at Wunsch. Darcy fired four shots in quick succession. Zietz fired at least three shots at Wunsch and at Hellerman."

"Darcy and Zietz then opened and reloaded their guns. I would approximate that 11 or 12 shots were fired in the barroom." Elmer Woldeck, a Poquessing ave. gas station attendant, was in the tavern with his boss the night of the holdup. He testified that 10 or 12 shots were fired.

The Commonwealth's eleventh witness was Maurice Phillips, 35, Poquessing ave., Somerton, employer of the witness Woldeck, who gave corroborative testimony as to the holdup.
